- 1. The Committee of Central and Mastern Europe, an anti-Communist organization in Buenos Aires (cf. had planned to hold a meeting on 30 January 1949 in order to elect a new president in view of Miroslaw Arciszewski's resignation as the organization's first president. However, the Federal Police refused to grant permission for holding the proposed meeting until the Committee's activities and purpose could be investigated by the police authorities.
- 2. The majority of Polish anti-Communist immigrants in Argentina objected to Arciszewski as president of the Committee. They resterated the charges that his wife is Russian and that he is in frequent contact with the Soviet Embassy in Buenos Aires and with Cominform supporters. As a result of this feeling of dissatisfaction in the anti-Communist Polish colony and because of its loss of confidence in him, Arciszewski was obliged to resign. It is believed that either Milan Stojadinovic, former Yugoslav Prime Minister, or Alexander Tsankov (Zankoff), former Bulgarían Prime Minister, will succeed Arciszewski.
